Springtime - a time when beautiful girls relax and read the paper. Little does she know that the exams, only weeks away, will blow her mind.

Forrest Wins!

BY NIGEL ALTY

Steve Forrest was overwhelmingly accepted as next year's Scarborough Campus Athletic Association (SCAA) President in last week's SCAA election.

Forrest was the only candidate after his only opponent Craig Young dropped out of the race for personal reasons.

In the accept/reject vote, Forrest was accepted on 337 ballots while being rejected on only 17.

In a hotly contested race for the Vice-President position, Jim Richardson edged out Martin McCann 168 votes to 138.

The position Treasurer was won by Jane Boissonault, who claimed victory with an impressive 168 votes. Steve Cooke and Mark Grant received 98 and 95 votes respectively.

Chris Tudela was accepted as SCAA Secretary on 302 ballots and rejected on 38.

Gary Soper was popularly accepted on 173 ballots and rejected on 17 as the SCAA Men's Chairperson.

Women's Chairperson Jo Curtis was also unchallenged for her position. She was accepted on 129 ballots and rejected on only 3.

Although about 380 votes were cast, a substantial increase from last year's turnout, the SCAA elections proved to be a disappointment in that four of the six candidates seeking council were acclaimed. Only two elected positions were acclaimed last year.

Members expelled from SCSC

BY BARBARA LIM
AND HANIF SARANGI

Speaker Jon Rose presented a list of Scarborough Campus Student Council (SCSC) members who had been expelled for missing too many meetings at last Wednesday's SCSC meeting.

SCSC members who miss more than three meetings are automatically expelled unless reinstated in a vote by the remaining SCSC members.

Earlier this year, Third Year Representative Kevin Sack was reinstated after being expelled for missing more than three meetings.

Sack made a motion that all members expelled be placed back in as voting members of SCSC.

SCSC President Young Kim made a friendly amendment that "each member's situation be looked at separately."

The members that were being voted on were: Year Representatives Salim Rashid, Danny Tremblay, Nick Zentena, Nancy Yee and Karen Williams, SAC Representatives on SCSC Titch Dharamsi, Louis Samonas and Thomas Schmidt, and Cultural Commissioner Angela Sahota.

In a secret ballot vote, all members expelled were reinstated except for Dharamsi and Williams.

Student Beaten

MONTREAL (CUP) - A black student says he was forced into a backroom, thrown against a wall, threatened and verbally abused Feb. 18 - all for not signing his Montreal bus pass.

On Feb. 18, Robert Douglas entered Guy Metro station on his way to meet his employer in the South Shore. He was stopped by Metro security because his pass was unsigned.

Douglas raised his arm to defend himself when one agent grabbed him by the neck. The other locked his around his back. When he started to question the officer's actions they began "roughing him up" according to Douglas.

According to a report filed by Danielle Maisonneuve of the transit commission public relations, Douglas's pass was invalid and any aggression came from Douglas and not the officers.

Douglas is planning to prosecute and CBC's Daybreak, a Montreal morning radio show, is investigating the incident.

Ont. Government Invests In Education

BY PREMLATA POONAI
AND NICK ZENTENA

At the Scarborough College Council meeting last Thursday, Scarborough campus was officially presented with a grant for $547,000 from the Ontario government.

The grant was given in order to build a permanent soil erosion research structure which will house a flume.

Present at the meeting were University president George Connell, Member of Parliament, the Right Honorable Ed Fulton, Parliamentary Assistant Joseph Cordiano, along with other members of College Council.

The Ministry of Colleges and Universities, represented by Cordiano, presented the grant on behalf of the Ontario government.

The flume will benefit the Earth Sciences research community at Scarborough campus. This structure is designed to study slope erosion under controlled conditions.

Professor Bryan, the head of the Geography department at Scarborough, stated that the school will be able to "solve a number of theoretical problems we have talked about for years."

The new structure will also be a testing facility for new technologies. It will benefit both graduate and undergraduate students in the International Development Studies program at Scarborough.

Bryan also added that the flume building will be "unique in North America and Europe to the best of my knowledge."

Underground supports Rabishaw

Last month, the students of Scarborough campus elected Shawn Rabishaw as their new Student Council (SCSC) President. In light of his platforms and his knack for compromise The Underground feels that Rabishaw will be a great improvement to next year's Student Council.

In the last few years SCSC has been in turmoil and confusion. Rabishaw has the ability to work with people and solve many of the problems inherent in Scarborough Student's Council. Rabishaw should have a stabilizing effect on SCSC and, hopefully, bring together the different factions of SCSC so that it can work as a unit.

Rabishaw's tenure as SCSC President, however, will not all be a bed of roses. He faces a projected deficit of over $30,000, a deficit which he optimistically feels will not materialize.

Despite the $10,000 loss at this year's Tent City Orientation, Rabishaw is still intent on holding another Tent City next year in the belief that he will not repeat last year's mistakes.

On a more personal note, Rabishaw will also be burdened with the task of co-ordinating a busy work schedule. He plans on carrying a full course load and working on a summer job as well as performing his duties as President of SCSC.

Another problem Rabishaw will face is the inevitable absence of his Vice-President Finance. Loretta Bartozzi, a business co-op student, will be away for several months next year while on a work term.

It is clear that although Rabishaw is optimistic and brings to the SCSC many redeeming qualities, he will be faced with many hurdles. We wish him luck.

Waterloo Students Protest Extra Fees

WATERLOO (CUP) - Students who refused to pay for computer services at the University of Waterloo are demanding an immediate government decision on the legality of incidental fees, though the Ontario Federation of Students is urging the provincial legislature to look for a second opinion on what OFS calls "extra billing of students."

About 100 U of W students didn't pay the incidental fee earlier this year. The administration let them register, but won't allow them to graduate or receive transcripts unless they pay up, or the $40-$100 fee is overruled.

Student leaders charge that incidental fees are "a back door" of increasing tuition fees without contravening provincial limits. Similar charges are levied on many campuses in many forms, such as photocopy charges and fees for class handouts and other materials.

Waterloo student councillor Ian Mitchell said the striking students are anxious about delays in the ruling.

"People are just going to drop out of the computer fee strike because they have exams and they're not going the want to worry about things like whether they'll get their tests back," he said. He has asked Ontario Colleges and Universities Minister Greg Sorbara to ask the decision be made soon. made soon.

OFS, on the other hand, wants a decision deferred until students and other interested parties have reviewed a secret report on incidental fees prepared for the minister by the Ontario Council on University Affairs.

OFS chair-elect Matt Certosimo last week wrote Sorbara urging him to release the OCUA report, before making up his mind.

OFS sees the decision as critical because it expects universities to widen their use of incidental fees if they are upheld.

Bob Richardson, an aide to the minister, said it is normal practise for OCUA recommendations to be made public only after the minister makes a decision. He added OFS and other groups aired their view on incidental fees known during OCUA's fall hearings.

He said the government has only had the OCUA report since March 7 and it wants to act responsibly, not hastily, on the "complex" issue.

"I can't really be pinned down on a time (for the minister's ruling)," he said early last week.

"For all we know, the report could have left out some important statistics, it may be fallacious. We don't know," said Certosimo.

Cowpunk comes to Scar

BY HANIF SARANGI

Canadian Cowpunk is coming to Scarborough. K.D. Lang, a jittery cyclone of kinetic energy, will leap onto the stage at the Meeting Place next Friday at 8 pm.

Lang, and her backup band, the Reclines, play a sort of rockabilly and western swing with a country-punk come on.

Lang's music is almost as unique as her appearance. She bounces onto stage in cowboy boots, a black skirt with tiny cowboy and indian appliques, a western belt, '50s cat-eye glasses (with no lens) and a punk hair-do.

Lang, a recent Juno award nominee, is popular because of the energy which she puts into her act.

Student's Administrative Council (SAC), who sponsored the concert, expects the event to sell out. Director Thomas Schmidt said that "we were lucky to get her."

SAC will only sell two tickets per student. Schmidt "encourages students to buy ahead of time because we don't want people disappointed at the door."

Tickets will sell for $5.00 in advance and $7.00 at the door. Despite being slightly higher than what was charged for other SAC concerts this year, SAC still expects to have a $3,000.00 loss for the event.

"Ticket sales will only cover cleanup and security expenses but not the $3,000.00 we spent getting Lang," said Schmidt.

Tickets can be purchased at the SAC Info. Desk starting this Wednesday.

RECORD REVIEWS

Angry man grows up

BY TOM HARALAMPIDIS

The Costello Show - King of America.

It's now official. When Elvis Costello said "Goodbye Cruel World" in 1984, he meant it. On his latest album, it is simply, "The Costello Show".

The record's title "King of America" is an ironically fitting finale to the use of the then controversial "Elvis is King" phrase on his debut album.

There are no horns in The Costello Show and the Attractions have been scattered among the songs which have their own individual credits. All songs written by Costello are credited to his real name Delan Patrick MacManus.

So why the sudden turnaround for the man responsible for some of the best songs to come out of England in the last decade?

In a recent interview in Musician magazine, MacManus stated that he was tired of the image of Elvis Costello (the angry little man has grown up) and confused over what the music public considers pop music.

The album as a whole is somewhat uneven (or what music critics love to call 'diverse'). Because MacManus is himself again, he can indulge in whatever he wants.

This leads to the recurring stabs at country, rockabilly, which are at best mediocre. He also does a few covers, from the comical "Eisenhower Blues" to the very appropriate and powerful rendition of "Don't Let Me Be Misunderstood".

Otherwise the record contains some of his best songwriting since Imperial Bedroom. This is the man at his most direct and honest. "Little Palaces" is written in traditional English style and MacManus plays mandolin and acoustic guitar on it.

The lyrics are aimed at domestic injustices of lower-class English homes, but the ideas work on a universal scale:

> "You knock the kids around a bit because they got your name, You knock the kids around a bit, And they feel like tearing down the little palaces."

It's certainly with bittersweet emotions that we see Elvis Costello hang up his guard, but hail to the new King. He said it best when he wrote:

> "What's the point of thinking, when people don't really care what you think!"

Something refreshing

BY TOM HARALAMPIDIS

The Violent Femmes - The Blind Leading The Naked.

Middle America has never been much of a significant element in producing pop stars. Outside of Ohio claiming fame to Devo and The Pretenders, most of the music scene exists on the coasts (L.A. or New York).

The Violent Femmes want to change all that. Hailing from Milwaukee, Wisconsin, they have done their part to bridge this gap by writing and producing their latest album, The Blind Leading The Blind entirely in their hometown.

From their impressive debut three years ago, their energy thrash quickly labelled them as a 'punk' band. Today, three albums later, it is evident that a band so talented and diverse can only be a rock n' roll band.

The band members are individuals who come from a varied musical background.

Gord Gano, the principal songwriter, guitarist, and vocalist has a strong sense of Christian Spiritualism that is ubiquitous among his work.

Brian Ritchie plays bass in an unconventional manner that I haven't heard since Crimson's Discipline.

Victor Lorenzo rounds out the trio with a tight rhythm section due to the influence of producer Jerry Harrison (of the Talking Heads).

The record begins with a thirty second flash called "Old Mother Reagan". It's fast, furious and a perfect introduction to a selective tour of American Music, with a heavy dose of black humour.

From the soulful gospel number called "Faith" to the raunchy "Heartache", it is refreshing to see something different in Gano's lyrics, opposed to all the Mellencamp-Springsteen nationalism we have been bombarded with lately.

Surprisingly, the first single and most driving track of the record is a cover of Marc Bolan's "Children of the Revolution". Their version makes the song sound as fresh today as it did back then.

This band still has a long way to go in refining their energy but they definitely have something special worth listening to.

Play worth watching - Cast of Thousands

BY CAROLYN HOUGHTON & VANGIE NITSOPOULOS

Scarborough campus is nurturing its own playwright talent with the presentation of the comedy Cast of Thousands, a one-act play to be performed at Studio I in Scarborough this week.

Written by Scarborough student Conor Jones, the plot centres around a jewellery store and a murder while humourously examining such questions as "who am I?" and, "what are we doing here on earth?"

"There is a lot of parodying - T.V. shows, other plays, a lot of religion, but it is all done playfully," said Jones, a third year English student.

Although this play is a light-hearted comedy, director Chris Forrest admits that it is "quite different from anything done this year (at Studio I) so far."

According to Jones, the Scarborough Drama Workshop prides itself on focusing on experimental theatre rather than popular mainstream productions.

"Scarborough campus has the advantage of putting on a production and not having to worry about it being a success," explained Jones. "The bigger theatres downtown can't give the students the breaks because they have to have a financial success."

Cast of Thousands is Jones' first play and probably not his last.

Jones is, however, hesitant about pursuing a career as a dramatist, admitting that when it comes to writing plays as a career, "Drama and welfare go hand in hand."

Christopher Durang's An Actor's Nightmare is being presented along with Cast of Thousands.

According to its director, Ian McLead, An Actor's Nightmare will appeal to anyone who has ever had to get up in front of a crowd to speak.

He describes it as "first and foremost a hilariously funny play."

Both shows are running from April 2nd through to April 5th at Studio I in Scarborough campus.

There is no charge for admission, but donations are gratefully accepted. Call 284-3126 for reservations.

Congratulations

To The Editor:

This letter is in response to the letter to the editor written by Mr. Andrew Morran. I think, and so do another 290 petition signers, that Mr. Morran is doing an admirable thing. Mr. Morran has taken it upon himself to be non-apathetic. Sure, accusations or comments can be made about alchohol related motives on the part of Mr. Morran for his crusade, but I think the issue goes far beyond this.

The important point that is trying to be made is not dealing with just the pub hours being cut back but the cutting back of a service, let me ask you this? If they were to cut back on say the recreation centre hours, cafeteria hours, library hours, or pinball hours, then would someone be dedicated enough to take the time and effort during the busiest part of the academic year to fight against it?

Personally, I don't always go to the Pub to consume alcohol. I would rather give the Pub and SCSC the 65¢ for a pop than give it to Beaver Foods. Also, there is a microwave in the pub that I use a lot for my lunches rather than journey to the H-wing cafeteria.

The reason for the cut back is to cut costs. There is an estimated savings of approximately $14.00 per day in wages. Therefore, if the pub was open these two hours and assuming not one item was sold to generate any revenue against the cost, then $14.00 would be lost.

Is this just a desperate attempt to lower the $33,000.00 deficit? I've heard of penny pinching, but this is ridiculous!

Let's assume that it is absolutely necessary to cut 2 hours off the operating time, why 12 noon untill 2 o'clock? Why not 10-12 p.m. on, say, a Monday?

In conclusion I would like to say congratulations to Mr. Morran on his efforts. I sincerely hope that you are successful in your venture. If you see me in the pub Mr. Morran, come over and I'll buy you a beer.

Martin McCann

Student Harassed

To The Editor:

I attended a portion of an SCSC meeting at Council Chambers on March 26 1986 out of interest. One issue that came up while I was present, was The Underground.

This issue produced some debate amongst the committee members, but little did I expect to be insulted and yelled at by another member of the audience, namely, one Ira Baptiste, manager of the Scarborough Pub.

After hearing the proposed motion, I whispered to my friends that I thought censorship was being imposed on The Underground. Ms. Baptiste, who was seated in front of me, immediately turned around and presented her own opinion, that The Underground was less than desirable. Surprised by this interjection, I mentioned that what she had said was her own opinion, and that's when she started raising her voice and a barrage of comments were issued from her including a comment that I had "no code of ethics". In fact, she disrupted the meeting and the speaker, Jon Rose, had to call her to order.

I respect the fact that Ms. Baptiste has her own opinions on issues, but I do feel that she should keep them to herself, especially when not asked for them. I further believe that she should not make derogatory comments about people she does not know. A person of her position (as Pub Manager) should not alienate students by insulting them.

I hope Ms. Baptiste would try to keep her temper under control, especially at an event such as an SCSC meeting.

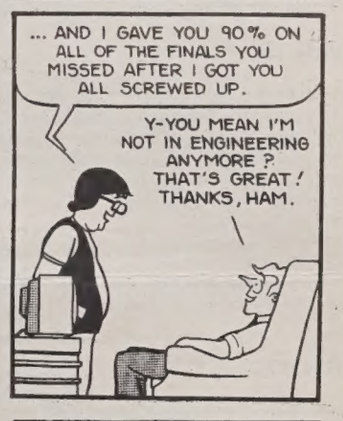
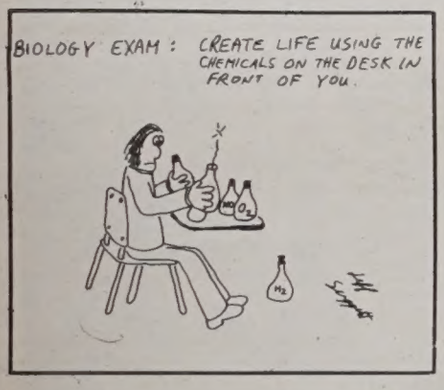
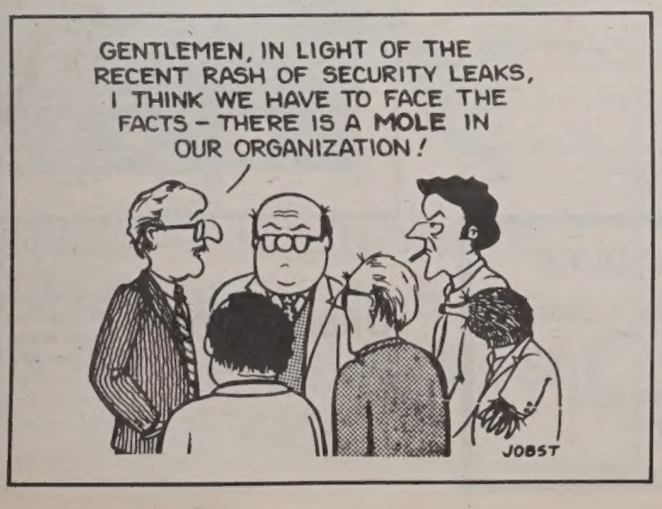
I ALWAYS WONDERED WHERE THAT CAT SUIT WENT.
HI, WHAT'S YOUR NAME?

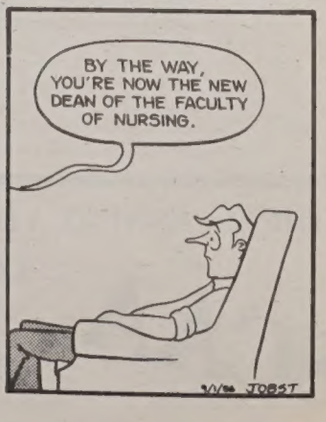
BAG END
ROB, YOU'VE GOT NOTHING LEFT TO WORRY ABOUT. I GOT BACK INTO THE REGISTRAR'S COMPUTER FILES AND GOT EVERYTHING ALL STRAIGHTENED OUT...



... AND I GAVE YOU 90% ON ALL OF THE FINALS YOU MISSED AFTER I GOT YOU ALL SCREWED UP.
Y-YOU MEAN I'M NOT IN ENGINEERING ANYMORE? THAT'S GREAT! THANKS, HAM.







GENTLEMEN, IN LIGHT OF THE RECENT RASH OF SECURITY LEAKS, I THINK WE HAVE TO FACE THE FACTS - THERE IS A MOLE IN OUR ORGANIZATION!
